As we become more reliant on technology and the Web, ACS Communications wants to make it easier than ever for you to get the latest news — and have a little fun, too. Today's ACS Web site makes this possible by featuring interactive communication and exclusive content designed just for the frontline. This is your personal invitation to visit the dynamic ACS Web site and participate in a special contest to promote this Web-driven information tool.

WHAT YOU'LL FIND:

e-Features — This section features stories you won't read anywhere else. It even includes an archive in case you miss an issue. These change every payday, and if you miss a story you can check the archive.

Feedback — We want to hear from you about the Web site and other ACS initiatives.

Station-to-Station — This is where to go to get news from around the system. There's even a form for employees to submit their own station's nonrev hints and operations milestones.

ACS Infocenter — Here's where you'll find breaking headlines, along with project updates and answers to Airport Agent postings.

Learning Tools — From Web site tips to ACS Learning programs, Learning Tools has it all.

Departures — This is just for fun and just for us. From relevant quotations to polls around the nation, enjoy a weekly departure.

Dear John — Got a burning question for John Selvaggio, senior vice president-Airport Customer Service? Ask it here, and view responses to past inquiries.

And once you've demonstrated your Web savvy, you can qualify to win one of 15 Flooz.com gift certificates, valued at $100 each! These virtual gift certificates can be spent using the Internet at any of Flooz.com's more than 60 e-tailers, including TowerRecords.com, marthastewart.com and Toysrus.com. Contest is open to Delta ACS employees only. Only one entry per employee. Multiple entrants will be automatically disqualified. Winners will be notified beginning Sept. 25, 2000.
